DISINFECTANTS.

CARBOLIC POWDER.

For the purification of houses, Schools, Drains, Water-Closets, &c., and for the Disinfection of Sick-rooms.

CARBOLIC ACID.

For the disinfection of houses. Half an ounce (about one table-spoonful) of this Acid, when well mixed with one quart of water, forms a superior disinfecting and deodorizing fluid.

Half a pint of the solution thus formed, when applied to any vessel in the sick-rooms, will disinfect and deodorize the air and preserve the contents for Medical inspection. It also purifies drains, water-closets, &c.

A ten-spoonful of Carbolic Acid exposed on a plate or other vessel in a sick-room will purify the air and prevent contagion.

PERMAGANATE DISINFECTANT.

Similar to Condyl's, but cheaper.

HONGKONG, JUNE 1st, 1891.

The Register of Imports and Exports at Singapore in his report on the trade of the Straits Settlements for last year says:—“An- other effect of the low exchange has been to restrict, as far as possible, the import trade with gold countries and to encourage imports from China and Japan, where the cost of production is largely measured by silver.”

Within the year a trade in cotton piece goods has sprung up with the latter country and her coal has successfully competed with the exceptionally high priced English and Australian articles. Taking value alone, the imports from the United Kingdom show a decrease of half a million dollars, though the same quantity has been valued considerably higher on arrival than in 1890. This is only what might be expected, for in competition with Japan and China, with their cheap silver, British manufacturers are bound to suffer so long as their selling price is dependent upon dear gold. It should be noted, however, that the decrease in the importation of British goods into the Straits Settlements last year has been much more than recovered during the first three months of the present year, the exports from England to Singapore for the quarter ending the 31st March last being $278,324, as compared with $229,563 in the corresponding quarter of 1890, and the exports to Peking also showing an increase. The following table giving the exports to the East for the first quarter of 1891 and 1890, which we take from The Times, shows that, notwithstanding the exchange difficulty, British trade with the East is improving:—

Value. 1891. Increase. Decrease.

Calcutta. 3,764,422 2,673,463 1,093,029

Bengal. 2,757,222 2,631,601 466,623

Mysore. 1,261,000 1,261,000 0

Rangoon. 361,700 363,730 2,030

Kutuboo. 75,562 260,720 485,162

Ceylon. 151,830 151,830 0

Singapore. 1,232,202 1,232,202 0

Hongkong. 45,524 515,327 56,783

Japan. 67,523 725,410 66,337

Formosa. 57,022 200,476 123,454

Increase. 1891. Decrease.

It will be seen that the trade with China and Japan showed a falling off, but the gross total shows a substantial increase. As regards the trade with the Straits, however, although an increase on 1890 is shown, reference to the returns of cotton yarn and piece goods shows that the figures for those articles are considerably below those for the corresponding quarter of 1890, and while the gold difficulty continues it is to be feared we cannot look for an steady growth of British trade with the Far East.

But turning to trade in our own Colony, while we cannot but regret the falling off in our imports from Great Britain, it is satisfactory to be able to think that the general trade of the Colony is in a healthy state of progress. If the books of the various Banks doing business in the Colony were open to inspection it would be found we believe, that the turn-over for last year was in excess of that of the previous year and that the present year is showing a further increase. In ordinary conversation, on the condition of trade very diverse opinions are expressed, but on the whole the complaints of bad times are less frequent than they were, and there is a greater feeling of buoyancy and hope. As a leading writer in our “Chungking-morning” contemporary, who appears to have recently passed through the Colony, expressed in the other day, “despite the sadness of the shareholders and the collapse of inflated stocks the ‘substantial prosperity of Hongkong is a fact which impresses all observers. Nowhere is there an intense commercial activity, outward and visible, than in the native streets of Victoria.” All the Colony’s spare cash was swallowed up in disastrous speculations several years ago, and it is inconceivable that the community can still be living on its losses. Money is being made, and is slowly but surely accumulating, and the influx of outside capital which may be expected soon as confidence in the stability of the exchange is re-established will further contribute to the prosperity of the Colony. The unfortunate visitation of the plague is a severe blow to trade, bringing heavy losses to shipping and trading enterprises, but while the disease is once stamped out, the recuperative power of the Colony will soon make good the losses.

In connection with the proposed minting of a British dollar, the Singapore Chamber of Commerce has supported the representations made by the Hongkong Chamber and there appears a reasonable prospect of the representations being shortly acted upon. Presumably the one coin will be common to both colonies. If separate coins were struck for each, although precisely the same except for the design, and Hongkong dollars were not made legal tender in Singapore nor Singapore dollars in Hongkong, it is possible some inconvenience might be experienced, one Colony possibly being flooded with its own coinage.

The by-laws now in force, however, will directly affect the discharge of the colony’s long neglected responsibility, and there is at any rate a good deal of general level if not of the plague, of removing the conditions in which it thrives.

Mr. HUMPHREYS—It is not the opinion of the permanent Committee that there had not the appearance of doing a good service to the colony, in so far as the public health of the colony is concerned, in the matter of cleaning and whitewashing.

The following are the returns for the twenty-four hours to noon yesterday:—

As Hongkong is the radius, Dame Lane, the plague is visiting or has been visiting our people. A very considerable increase is shown in the above figures of those given for the previous day, and the fact only the more emphatically demonstrates the correctness of our remarks in yesterday’s issue. The meeting of the Sanitary Board, held yesterday, after a long discussion of the disease, and in a frank and frank manner, came to the conclusion that the disease, although it had been stamped out in a number of places, had not yet entirely disappeared.

Mr. FRANCIS—May I suggest that we are not in a reasonable position to object to the payment of a special tax on property to cover the cost. It is a question of the amount of the tax, and of the time when it should be imposed.

Mr. HUMPHREYS—It is not the opinion of the permanent Committee that there had not the appearance of doing a good service to the colony, in so far as the public health of the colony is concerned, in the matter of cleaning and whitewashing.

The following are the by-laws as finally passed by the Board:—

The permanent Committee appointed by the Board of Health, in accordance with the Public Health Ordinance, has been dissolved, and the amount of its assets, £24,000, has been paid over to the Sanitary Board.

The Sanitary Board has been constituted by a sum of £26,652, lifting the carrying to it of the accounts concerning and hydraulic plant, which were wholly in the possession of the permanent Committee, and which were in the sum of £2,652.
